

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo. "I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live. Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued to use it, and now I am well and strong."

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SHAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

BARNES ANIMAL SHOW CLEAN AND ORIGINAL

The entertainment provided by the Barnes circus is original, new, clean and instructive. Many sensational and thrilling features abound throughout the program, which are presented by famous men and women, wild animal trainers, who risk their lives in showing ferocious beasts to the public.

Sixty lions, tigers, leopards, pumas and jaguars are performers with the show. Twenty-four of the largest, full-grown, man-eating lions are used in one act. This lion act is sensational to a remarkable degree and the largest group of these great cats ever successfully presented before the public. They are well trained and are handled in the act by able trainer. Their value is placed at $50,000.

A group of thirty bears are a part of the wild animal section. American and Russian grizzlies, cinnamon, sable, sloth, porcupine and black bears comprise the species. Their acting is principally along comedy lines. Big Bill, the grizzly wrestling grizzly in the ring of the lion.

A herd of elephants have a star act with the show. A complete farce comedy and some difficult posing feats and a musical act are done by these ponderous brutes.

Augmenting the wild animal features are many others presented with domestic animals. Dogs, goats and the famous challenge horses and ponies are prominently displayed, over 600 animals are carried by the show, and sixty-five big acts produced.

The glittering, mile-long parade is presented at 10:30. Performance hours are 2 and 8 p. m., doors opening at 1 and 7.

The big show is to be in Albuquerque, Monday, October 4.

ALBUQUERQUE'S LARGEST STORE READY FOR THE STATE FAIR

Forty Departments and a
$350,000 Stock of Merchandise
at Disposal of Albuquerque and Her Visitors.

HUNDRED EMPLOYEES
SERVE ACRE OF FLOOR SPACE

It Is Worth the Trip to Albuquerque to See the Biggest Department Store Between Denver and Los Angeles.

With its forty different departments a $350,000 stock of the most modern and up-to-date stock, a corps of 100 employees and covering a floor space equal to an acre of ground the Rosewald Brothers department store, Fourth and Central, is the largest of its kind between Denver and Los Angeles, not excepting even El Paso, a city much larger than Albuquerque. Established in 1870 by Aron and Edward Rosewald, fathers of the present proprietors, the growth of the business during this period of time has been marvelous.

Taking a trip of inspection through this mammoth store reminds one that he or she is in a department store in Chicago, Pittsburgh, New York or one of the other large eastern metropolises where the latest styles are displayed. Within a few days after some new creation makes a hit on Broadway and becomes one of the "best sellers" in New York City an assortment of the fashions are on display at the sales rooms of the Rosewald Brothers store. Their eastern buyers are constantly sending shipment after shipment of the latest styles and fashions to this city and also making large shipments of furnishings. This store carries everything from a pin to everything to wear for men, women and children, as well as furnishings for the home, with the exception of furniture, traveling outfit, and a thousand other things too numerous to mention.

The last winter in the latest fall and winter clothing, hundreds of new designs in house furnishings and trinkets, etc. are now on display in the various departments of this store. To go into detail to describe a visit of a Herald reporter through this store would require many columns.

To appreciate the unusual line of goods on display one must pay a personal visit of inspection to the store. The large force of clerks are courteous and take a pleasure in showing any of the various lines of goods in their respective departments. The ladies of Albuquerque and visitors in the city will find the Rosewald store a wonderful of new creations in fall and winter styles. The same line of ready-to-wear clothing, street clothing, evening gowns, coats, wraps and etc., that are being displayed at the leading New York stores are in display at Rosewald's.

The stock in women's wearing apparel is the largest ever displayed at a department store from Denver to the coast. There is a wide assortment of styles and colors. The street clothing is for the most part fur trimmed this fall and winter as are the coats and wraps. The evening gowns are beautiful.

The European war has not effected beautiful styles in women's clothing this year. It is true that there have been but a limited number of new Paris creations but the American designer has come to the front and demonstrated that he can equal the French styles. The Rosewald Brothers buyers in New York, however, were fortunate in securing from their French buyers several large recent shipments of goods.

The millinery, corset, hose, shoe, neckwear, shirtwaist, underwear and other departments for the lady's wearing apparel contain the latest and most up-to-date articles in a wide assortment of styles and grades.

Entering the men's department one finds an unusually large stock of clothing for men, young men and boys. It too, is one of the largest lines of men's goods ever carried by a department store of the southwest. Recently this department received through its eastern agency a large assortment of men's and young men's clothing, hats, shoes, neckwear, underwear, shirts, hose and other articles.

The dress goods and silk department is one of the busiest of the store and carries a wonderful line of goods. There are many new creations shown in this department this year which will please even the most fastidious.

The jewelry department has been enlarged this fall and a very large line of the latest in jewelry installed. In this department an exquisite line of Libbey's cut glass is shown as well as a large line of beautiful hand-painted china. A general line of jewelry is displayed at this department.

A new department has been added to the store this fall, that of a bed and bedding section. A complete and up-to-date line of beds and bedding is carried in this department. Mr. Albert Faber, well known in Albuquerque, is in charge.

The rug and carpet department has recently been replenished with a full line of the very latest styles in carpets and rugs. There are all qualities of carpets and rugs on display.

The juvenile department on the second floor carries a complete line of goods for the "kiddies." Everything to wear, dresses, boys' suits, hats, shoes, underwear and other articles are carried.

On the third floor of the mammoth building there is a complete line of cooking utensils. Everything for the kitchen is sold in this department.

A photographic department with three lines of photographs has been opened. The Edison, Columbia and Victor machines are carried with several thousand records in the assortment to select from.

One of the most complete departments of the store is that of the trunk and traveling bag department. All the latest in traveling and leather goods is displayed here.

While the display rooms of the store are as busy as a bee hive, the receiving room is also a very busy place. New goods are constantly being received which are unpacked and placed in these rooms.

Mr. Rosewald stated this morning that he is having all the holiday goods unpacked so that the visitors to the state fair will be given an opportunity to visit the store and make a personal inspection of the great line of goods on display. An invitation is extended to all by the proprietors to visit the store and inspect the new line of fall and winter goods. The interior of the various departments have been artistically decorated for the occasion.

ORTHODOX JEWS GIVE MONEY FOR WAR VICTIMS

Liberal donations of money were made by Orthodox Jews who attended the Yom Kippur day services at the residence of R. Marcus, 208 North Edith street last week. A collection of San Francisco gave a short oration in which he described the sufferings of those in the war zone in Europe and as a result every member present made a contribution to be sent to the relief fund committee at New York. Mackerel Blocking the Sea.

Berlin, Sept. 29.—Such schools of mackerel as have not been seen in German waters for many years are now visiting the seas in both the North sea and the Baltic, and the fishermen are making enormous catches. The fish are entering the Baltic through the Cattagat in great shoals, and the Danes are taking their part in the catch. The German fishermen are taking enormous hauls in the waters around Kiel, Ecko, Fohnde and Fohnde, and many loads of ice are coming down from Denmark and Norway for packing the fish for shipment into the interior.

REPRESENTATIVE FROM ENGINEER'S OFFICE TO ATTEND THE BANQUET

The Albuquerque Motocycle club this morning received a letter from State Engineer James A. French, at Santa Fe, stating that while he would be unable to attend the banquet of the club Thursday evening he would send his assistant, A. S. Kirkpatrick, who is in charge of his office. Mr. Kirkpatrick has made a study of highways for several years and is perfectly familiar with road conditions in New Mexico. He will speak on "Highways in New Mexico and Motocycle Clubs."

Mrs. Thomas Hughes, mother of City Clerk Thomas Hughes, leaves this evening for Washington, D. C., where she expects to spend the winter with her daughter, Miss Lou Hughes. Her daughter, Mrs. O. C. Watson, who has been visiting here for several days, also leaves this evening for her home in Denver.

INDIFFERENT AS TO FORM OF THE GOVERNMENT IN CHINA

People Refuse to Become Excited Over Reported Turn of President Yuan Shi-Kai to Monarchy.

ANY GOVERNMENT WILL SERVE IF STABLE

Generally Felt, Says Hankow Correspondent, That Recently Organized Republic Is Slipping Badly.

[Associated Press Correspondence]
Hankow, China, Aug. 25.—Chinese newspapers have taken the movement of the Peace Preservation society to re-establish the empire very calmly. Even here in the Yangtze valley, which was such a storm center in the two recent revolutions, there has been little flurry caused by the report from Peking of President Yuan Shi-Kai's approval of the movement for the restoration of the monarchy.

"We don't care whether we have a republic or a monarchy if it is stable," a prominent Chinese merchant remarked. "We simply want a chance to go along without changes and upsets in business conditions. Our chief objection to the monarchical form is that it will take some time to adjust to the new conditions."

This view is probably typical of that held by most of the business men of Hankow, which is called the Chicago of China and is probably destined to be the great railway center of the rich country lying toward Tibet.

The Hankow iron works, which figured so prominently in the recent negotiations between Japan and China, are located here and employ more than 4,000 men in making steel rails and other iron products. The government also has an arsenal here.

As a result of its great industries and strategic location Hankow was a storm center in the two late revolutions and the native city was almost entirely destroyed.

Wu-chang, which lies just across the Yangtze from Hankow, was the stronghold of General Li, the present vice president in the second revolution. But the sleepy, unprogressive old city manifests little interest in recent political developments. The same is true of Shanghai, the former capital of China (three hundred miles farther down the river). The railway between Peking and Shanghai crosses the Yangtze at Nanking. The city is an educational center and was once a stronghold of the sun Yat-sen forces and the scene of the battle of Purple Mountain.

Yuan Shi-Kai's supporters are scattered along the Yangtze. His troops are centered in the larger river towns. They have been moved frequently to make sure they have not fallen under rebel influence. Consequently the administration is confident that no real demonstration of any consequence can develop in the valley to which nearly all of central China is tributary.

Chinese papers published in foreign countries are almost unanimous in deploring this as an unfortunate time for the discussion of an empire they believe the project should be abandoned until after the end of the European war because of the importance of foreign interests in China.

The central China Post of Hankow, which is published by Englishmen and is probably the most influential paper in the upper Yangtze valley, in a recent editorial expressed the opinion that the re-establishment of the monarchy will not give rise to a rebellion in South China, as has been predicted by some leaders. The editorial says: "The great masses will be perfectly content to vote the president, as many or as great titles as he may wish for, rather than risk disturbance. They will most gladly express their congratulations to Emperor Yuan as readily as they did when he appointed himself practically permanent president. As for the irreconcilables, we may take it for granted they are being closely watched and will be given no opportunity to fit up their horns. As to foreigners it is not a matter in which they can interfere."

In reviewing recent events which presented the return to a monarchy, the same editorial mentions President Yuan's offering sacrifices at the Temple of Heaven as the first indication of his intention to restore the old order. This was followed by governmental approval of Confucius teachings, which held that a state cannot exist without an emperor. Yuan Shi-Kai next extended the presidential term to ten years and made it possible for him to name his own successor. All these were natural forerunners, in the opinion of the central China Post, of the new Peace Preservation society, which is advocating the definite abandonment of the republic.

A BIT OF ADVICE.

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache, headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Albuquerque residents desire more convincing proof of their effectiveness than the statement of an Albuquerque citizen who has used them and willingly testifies to their worth?

J. M. Vickrey, plumber, 1604 North Eleventh street, Albuquerque, says: "I don't hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and kidney trouble. In my case they brought immediate relief from backache. I know of another case where Doan's Kidney Pills brought positive relief from backache, due to weak kidneys."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Vickrey had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SHADE TREE CONTEST BRINGS VALUABLE INFORMATION

Washington, Sept. 29.—That the largest broad-leaved shade tree in the United States, as brought to light by the prize contest held by the American Genetic association, should turn out to be the eastern yucca is not surprising, say government foresters. The yucca has long been regarded as the largest deciduous tree in North America and its range of growth is hardly second to that of any other broad-leaf tree, for it can be found from Maine to Florida, and as far west as Kansas. A smaller form occurs along creek bottoms in the lower parts of Arizona and New Mexico.

The bestowal of the prize on a yucca at Worthington, Indiana, which is 42 feet 3 inches in circumference and 150 feet tall, draws attention to the fact that foresters are nowdays recommending the species especially for city planting. They say that long experience with yuccas planted in city streets has shown that the species is peculiarly able to withstand the smoke, dust and gases which are usually an unavoidable complement of urban life. In addition, the yucca is as resistant to attacks of insects and fungi as almost any species, and is a quick grower. At ten years of age, a healthy yucca usually is already large enough for shade as well as for decorative purposes. The native yuccas of Arizona and New Mexico do not attain nearly the size of the eastern species, but are a satisfactory shade tree for elevations under 5,000 feet.

The contest unearthed a specimen of the valley oak in San Benito county, California, which is 27 feet 4 inches in circumference and 125 feet high and was decided to be the largest nut-bearing tree in the United States. The valley oak is a very beautiful tree, but it attains maturity only after three or four hundred years. Foresters say that the hickory and black walnut are the largest true nut-bearing trees in this country, and the contest did, in fact, unearth a chestnut near Crestmont, North Carolina, which is 33 feet 4 inches in circumference and about 75 feet tall.

The contest brought forth photographs and authentic descriptions of 337 deciduous trees in 24 parts of the United States, making a distinctly valuable contribution to existing knowledge of native trees. It was found that, as all probability, there is no living tree larger than "The Great Elm" at Wethersfield, Connecticut, which is 28 feet in circumference and about 150 feet tall, and is estimated to be 250 years old. Many remarkable specimens of species which ordinarily attain only small sizes were unearthed.

FBI Sends Its Quota.
Suva, Fiji Islands, Sept. 29.—Out of a population of a little over 4,000 Europeans, the British colony of Fiji has officially sent 116 men to the front, and another 136 have gone independently. The total is thus 252 or about 1-16 of the entire white population.
